

Hundreds Tour the NEW Model at White Clay Knoll!

Several hundred people toured the new Ridgewood Manor Model Home at White Clay Knoll during the week of June 5. Wilkinson Builders unveiled this decorated model with the theme of "It's a Jungle Out There." More than 75 area real estate agents came out on June 8th and enjoyed a savory lunch while touring the Model and two Quick Settlement Homes. On June 10 & 11, nearly 100 area families brought their children to the festivities, which included pony rides, Jungle John and his reptiles, and the 60' inflatable "Jungle Run." Two families took home family four-packs of tickets to the Philadelphia Zoo...and everyone who came had a roaring good time!

White Clay Knoll is a community of 36 homesites located in the Avon Grove School District, nestled into the hills, and with amazing open space and views. To date, five homes have already sold, with three additional homesites on hold. Buyers extol the panoramic countryside...including the view of a classic Chester County barn.

Inside, the views are just as striking. From the second floor overlook into the expansive foyer...from across the huge kitchen island to the more-than-generous breakfast room...from the noteworthy double shower in the owner's bath...the Ridgewood Manor redefines space. And this space has been created by architect Rick Longo, and masterfully decorated by Louis Tyler Creative Services. The palette of this home is memorable and bold...a fusion of classic lines with contemporary colors. Soaring open spaces, traditional columns, bold accents, and rich materials make the floorplan of the home the perfect backdrop for families of today. Four bedrooms (including owner's suite), three car garage, library or home office, conservatory, and light-filled finished lower level are just a few of the key features of this home.

Experience the Ridgewood Model for yourself. It's open daily from 12-5. Looking for a new home but need a summertime delivery date? Be sure to tour the two Quick Settlement Homes at White Clay Knoll: The Bradbury II Country on homesite #1, and the Ridgewood Classic on homesite 17A. Quick Settlement Homes are also available in many other Wilkinson communities. For more information, call 610-274-3555.
